

Peter I. Bergé, JD, MPA, PA-C Emeritus

Peter Bergé is an attorney in New Jersey and is licensed as a PA in New York State. He has extensive experience in healthcare, including 22 years of PA practice in a wide range of clinical, educational and administrative areas. Prior to studying law he was a member of the full time faculty of the St. Vincent Catholic Medical Centers-St. John's University physician assistant education program. He lectures on medicine, law and medicolegal topics to local, national and international groups, and has published on medical and medicolegal topics, including chapters in three medicolegal texts. He is an adjunct lecturer for several master's degree PA programs and adjunct faculty for two Doctor of Medical Science programs where he has created and teaches health law courses.

Formerly a partner in, and now Of Counsel to, the litigation law firm of Bendit Weinstock in West Orange, New Jersey, he has been admitted to the New Jersey bar since 2004. His law practice concentration is medical and other healthcare negligence.